Carmel, California

Editor The Pine Cone:

The first item in last week's "Briefs . . ." could be a little misleading. Though it is true that the Mission Ranch had not as of yesterday (August 4) asked the Supervisors to review the County Planning Commission's denial of the Ranch's request to rezone part of the Ranch property from R-1 to R-3, it appears that it is routine for the Supervisors to review any action of the planners that involves zoning. It is, then, important for the public to know and to remember that the review and quite probably a full discussion of the matter will take place in Salinas at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, September 5.

John S. Stanton.

Motorists who have been parking on either side of the center divider strip on Junipero Street south of Ocean to Seventh Street will have a period of grace to allow them to shake off their old habits, according to Police Chief Clyde Klaumann. But only until Monday when the city will begin enforcement of a new parking plan on that section of the street.

The city council last night asked the chief of police to prepare a new plan for parking on the west side of the street only. Parking in any fashion along the center strip is now a traffic violation and beginning Monday cars will be ticketed for such violation.

Apparently Carmel will see a loud departure soon when a bagpipe band in full dress will go skirling along Ocean Avenue as part of a Forest Theater presentation at 1:30 the afternoon of August 28.

The city has heretofore confined parades and demonstrations to school parades.

Glenn Kearns of the Carmel Arts Commission which is sponsoring the event said no mechanical means of amplification would be used.

"None will be needed," one councilman said.

Kearns said the band is an excellent one and the parade was requested because "part of the enjoyment of such a group is seeing it on the march."

The city council, Whitaker voting No, granted permission for the parade to tootle and wheeze on the appointed date.

Paul Mercurio of Carmel reports that he has been elected president of the State of California Board of Barbering Examiners. The election took place this week in Los Angeles. Mr. Mercurio will be back in Carmel this weekend. He was appointed a member of the board last year by State Senator Fred Farr. Prior to his appointment, he operated a barber shop in Pine Inn. The board examines all graduates of barbering schools before they are licensed to practice their trade in California.

Carmel police are investigating the disappearance of a piece of sculpture from the Feingarten Galleries following a report that a sculptured silver bird had been removed from the pedestal on which it was displayed for the current one-man show of Emile Norman's work.

Coates, right, who will be chairman of hostesses in the Doud garden during the annual MPVS Garden Tour and Flower Show on Wednesday, points to towering buds and asks two of her assistants, Mrs. Gregory Hughes, center, and Mrs. Anthony Janda, left, to guess whether flowers will be red or yellow when they open for the public to see next week.

Her other assistants on Wednesday will be Mrs. William Church, Mrs. Donald R. Cox, Mrs. Phillips N. Davis, Mrs. William D. Fowler, Mrs. Ernest Gatcombe, Mrs. Virginia Haak, Mrs. Frances G. Hawley, Mrs. Katherine Lindhardt, Mrs. Lucille Ray, Mrs. Robert Rettig, Mrs. Martha Cooper Votaw, Mrs. Carl E. Wagenman and Miss Dorothy Skinner.

Two nearby gardens, those of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett and Mr. and Mrs. Leet W. Bissell, will also be open to the public on Wednesday during the MPVS Garden Tour hours, 10:00 o'clock in the morning until 5:00 in the afternoon.

In Pebble Beach the public is invited to visit the Flower Show at the George Gann Estate, also the garden of Colonel and Mrs. Allen Griffin where tea and coffee will be served on the formal terrace and in the courtyard from 2:00-4:00 o'clock. Mrs. Wildred C. Aldous, Mrs. A. Boyd Mewborn and Miss Margaret Prosser will pour.

Monterey Peninsula Country Club gardens included in the tour are those of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Robinson, General and Mrs. O. P. Weyland, and Vice Admiral and Mrs. E. W. Mills.

Tickets include admission to all eight gardens and the flower show, also refreshments. Theme of the flower show is The Flower Story. Eight classes will have arrangements symbolizing titles of novels and short stories written by Ernest K. Gann, Pebble Beach author. The Pebble Beach gate fee will not be included in the ticket price of $3.00.

Chitwood Quits Council In Row Over Youth Center

The roof blew off City Hall last night. John S. Chitwood fired off a verbal resignation from the city council and walked out of the session in protest of the group's three-to-two vote to pass on to the Carmel School District without comment a request from the Carmel Recreation Center Board for $5,000 in school funds to operate the center. Chitwood, veteran of more than 11 years on both the Center advisory board of which he is vice president, and the City Council (with part of the latter term spent as mayor), construed the action as a failure of the council to endorse the Youth Center itself.

Mayor Frank Putnam, the remaining councilmen and city officials and a small gallery of spectators were visibly stunned by Chitwood's action.

The door had only just closed on Chitwood's retreat when Mrs. Dorothy Chapman, long-time member of the Center board, asked from the floor that the council urge Chitwood to reconsider his action. The city did so by resolution a short time later.

Actually the council's move on the Youth Center matter hinged on a technicality rather than a critical basis, although plenty of criticism of the Center had been dished out by Councilman Gunnar Norberg during a hot discussion earlier.

Briefly, the events leading to Chitwood's climactic departure were these:

P. A. McCreery, president of the Youth Center board, had submitted to the Carmel Recreation Commission a photostat of correspondence which he indicated had earlier gone astray, dated the 17th of May and asking the Carmel Unified School District for $5,000 toward the center's budget of some $17,000 for the coming year. Each year previously the district has allowed the Center $3,500 out of its special 10-cent recreation tax fund of which it has about $42,000.

The Recreation Commission, which had met as a three-member group earlier in the day, passed the request on to the City Council without comment.

The reason the Council was involved in the affair in the first place, explained City Attorney John Morse, is that state law prohibits school districts disbursing from funds direct to private organizations, but the city has no such legal prohibitions. And the Recreation Center was started as a city project in the first place, has been more-or-less sponsored through the years as a joint operation with the school district, and occupies city property for a dollar per annum rental.

"The basic procedure has been followed for the past 10 to 13 years," Chitwood said, "though there have been several changes in the method of paying of the money, there is nothing illegal or questionable about the school board paying these funds to the Center in as much as the Center provides recreation for those youngsters from the district who wish to join."

Chitwood moved that the council "strongly support" the payment of the requested $5,000, which will

Council Receives Budget Providing 36 Cent Tax Drop

Carmel taxpayers got handsome treatment from their city government last night when the city council accepted a money-saving, tax-cutting provisional budget of $495,236 for 1961-62, and practically promised that it would be adopted, "with minor changes."

The neatly tailored affair, a result of wise economies on the part of city departments and some hard work on the part of Clerk-Comptroller Lawrence D. Rose and others, will mean a net decrease of eight cents in the city tax rate under last year.

Mayor Frank Putnam's words of praise: "We are holding the line on taxes and this is very important," he said, "in light of substantial increases from other governmental and administrative agen-

Council Dumps Bed Tax In Three To Two Vote

Carmel's famous "bed tax" proposal was put to sleep by Carmel City Council last night, though even at the end its proponents fought hard against those who administered the sedative which ended its chances.

The council voted three to two not to allow a first reading of a recently prepared ordinance which would have levied a 2 percent users' tax on beds in all hotels and motels and in tourist homes and rooming houses in Carmel.

Mayor Frank Putnam, and Councilmen Eben Whittlesey and John Chitwood voted no on keeping the matter alive. Councilmen Gunnar Norberg and Francis Whitaker voted yes. (Chitwood resigned verbally from the council at the same session, but this action followed a discussion of the tax ordinance, for which he was present.)

Whitaker, who in the light of an adequate budget for current expenses this year saw the tax proposal as an opportunity to raise what he called "desperately needed" funds for capital outlay, said that the city corporation yards, for instance, were "illegal firetraps badly in need of expansion and improvement." He had wanted the tax revenue earmarked for capital outlay only.

But Norberg, only other councilman who supported Whitaker's vote to continue the tax ordinance in existence, said, "We have to think of this in a different sense than merely as a capital outlay source." He said he believed he represented some 85 percent of the people of Carmel who have nothing to gain from the tourist industry's being here and yet were crowded from the streets of their own community by "1700 visitors who stay overnight and most of them are 'one-day wonders' who spend no money with local merchants, and yet litter the beaches with beer cans after buying the beer outside Carmel."

"They change their clothes in our men's room too," agreed Harrison Godwin, manager of the Pine Inn, from the audience. Godwin was a member of a capacity audience made up mostly of hotel and motel operators.

Chitwood had led off the discussion by recommending the action on the tax be deferred until there is a real need for the tax and until "we can be sure the businessmen involved are being equitably served." A burst of applause from hostelers in the audience greeted his brief speech, which led the mayor to caution the gallery against audible demonstrations in the council chamber.

Councilman Whittlesey claimed to be "no friend of the motel industry as such but I feel it is entitled to as much consideration as any other industry." He pointed out that when the tax proposal was first introduced, the council had reason to believe such a tax would be area-wide but now that

VALLEY LITTLE LEAGUE CHAMPS CLIP HOLLISTER 10-1

Managers Gordy Miyamoto and Jay Huffman saw their Piston charges put on a near-perfect performance last Saturday afternoon as they clubbed the hard-trying Hollister nine, 10 to 1, to win the Area Playoff. Behind the fireball pitching of David Marvin, the Valley lads played inspired ball all the way to post an easy win. Marvin struck out 14 Hollister swingers while giving up only two hits over the six-inning route. Besides a brilliant pitching job Marvin also helped his own cause by blasting a tape-measure homer in the fifth heat.

The fired-up Pistons got off to a fast start in the playoff tilt when Cliff Branch, husky first-baseman, powered the first pitch out of the park for a home run. Hollister made a game of it for the first three frames, but the Valley erupted for five runs in the fourth inning and put four insurance markers on the board in the fifth.

This Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, the Pistons journey to Greenfield to participate in the Little League Section Tournament. In this tourney, the top Little League teams from Salinas, King City, Watsonville, and the Carmel area will vie for the official championship of the section. If the Pistons win this Saturday, they will play in the finals on Saturday, August 19.

PONY LEAGUE PLAYOFF GAMES SET

Because of ties, games called because of darkness, and postponed tilts, the Carmel Pony League directors have extended the season for one week with five more games added to the slate. Tonight at 6:00 o'clock, the Valley Broncos take on the Toy Shop Braves; Friday evening, the Carmel Builders Dodgers tackle the Jade Tree Giants; and the same two teams are scheduled for further action in Monday's 6:00 o'clock tilt. The championship playoff game is set for Friday, August 18.

In last week's Pony League play, the Giants and Dodgers finally got together for a game and, in spite of some no-hit pitching, the final outcome had them deadlocked at 2-2. The game was called because of darkness and will be replayed next week. Matt Little and Greg Jones combined talents to throw a no-hitter at the Dodgers, but streaks of wildness spoiled their shutout bid. Howdie King, league strikeout artist, added eight more K's to his record and threw a nifty three-hitter at the Bill Woolsey-Howard Baxter crew.

Manager Bob Baugh's Sport Shop Cardinals, second round leaders, had their untarnished record spoiled last Saturday morning when they were jolted by the Carmel Valley Broncos in an extra-inning game. All locked up at 5-5 at the end of the regulation seven innings, the game wasn't decided until the bottom of the 9th when David Preve hit one out of the park to give the Broncos a 6-5 verdict.

The home run ball also decided the Navy PG School - Toy Shop Braves tilt which was won by the Navy, 5 to 3. The Braves were coasting along with a 3-2 lead until the sixth inning when Navy's John Plowman picked on a high pitch and sent it far over the left-field fence for a three-run homer.

CARMEL SWIM CLUB BEATS WATSONVILLE

Coach Bob Walthour's Carmel Swim Club had an easy time of it last Saturday morning against the Watsonville splashers, powering to a 247-146 victory over the hosts. Showing improvement in all events, the Carmel natators posted several new records and established themselves as a threat to supplant the Gilroy Swim Club as Tri-County champions.

The Monterey Marlins invade the Carmel High pool this Saturday morning for at 10:00 o'clock meet with Walthour's tankmen. Monterey was dunked by Gilroy last week, but the Marlins handled Watsonville in easy fashion and could make the Carmel gang work for the victory.

Top point-makers for the Carmel Club in its victory over Watsonville were Maynard Petersen, Pam Turner, Mike Paul, Bruce Campbell, Art Horning, John Hackbarth, Jim Holt, George Goldsmith, Dan Gerganoff, Susie Aebersold, John Aitken, Jerri Harrison, Bob Huber, Peggy Newton, Jody Oenning, Kathy Pollock, Jean Tweedie, and Carol Heisel. Top individual performance was Pam Turner's new Tri-County record in the 25-yard butterfly. The little Carmel speedster zipped the distance in 15.8 to clip two-tenths of a second off the previous standard.

New Lincoln Lane Courtyard Complex Open For Shoppers

A restaurant, four shops and three offices are now open in Carmel's newest court complex, Lincoln Lane, situated on the east side of Lincoln Street above Sixth Avenue.

Sans Souci is the name of the restaurant operated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Becker. Potpouri, a men's specialty shop, and Earline's Boutique, a women's specialty shop, are run, respectively by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Austin Bell. A third shop, Corrine Swalwell's Young Man's Fashion, an apparel shop for boys aged 6-16, is also situated in the court. Robert Wolf is the proprietor of Kent of Carmel, a men's clothing shop.

Offices in the complex are occupied by General Hotel Supply Company; Margery Haynes, an interior decorator; and Blair Development Company, developers of Lincoln Lane.

George L. Willox, Carmel architect, designed the complex. L. E. Gottfried, Carmel building contractor, constructed the buildings grouped about a central court opening off Lincoln Street. The entrance and courtyard are paved with brick. Planters of used brick center the landscaped courtyard. A pathway at the back of the court leads into Dolores Street, across from the post office side entrance.

The buildings fronting on Lincoln Street are faced with driftwood-finished redwood. Door and window frames are painted white. Roofs are natural wood shakes. One shop and one office are unoccupied as yet. The offices are at the back of the court, upstairs, in a two-story building. All shops are on the ground floor.

Officers of the Blair Development Company are Emmett L. Blair, president; Andrew McKeown, vice president; Corrine Swalwell, secretary-treasurer.

cies. The county and school districts, and various other special districts have not done this. The check you write as a taxpayer this year will be bigger, but it won't be because of the city."

The first study session on the budget was set for 8:00 o'clock for the evening of August 4.

Commenting on the budget prior to the council meeting, Rose called it "something to shout about."

The new budget can be financed with a proposed tax of 81 cents, a 36-cent decrease from last year's figure of $1.17. Of the 36 cents, 28 represents compensation for the recent increase of more than $4,000,000 in assessed valuation of Carmel property, leaving the net decrease in rate of 8 cents.

Last year the city was faced with having to raise $159,000 in property taxes. This year, however, though total expenditure will be larger by $21,717, only $146,000 will be needed from property taxes, Rose said, a $13,000 decrease.

Rose pointed out a decrease in operating costs from $391,056 last year compared with $338,472 this year, and a big increase in capital outlay expenditure from $11,321 to $61,228. Some $11,000 of this is already on hand, however.

He said two of the major factors leading to the easier tax burden lay in a decrease of some $10,000 in the cost of liability insurance, and the fact that there are no major improvements scheduled for the coming year, such as last year's $56,000 Ocean Avenue project.

The $10,000 insurance saving was made possible by a detailed insurance study made by Rose and Attorney John Morse during the past fiscal year.

In other business last night the council:

Passed an ordinance requiring dogs under four months to be confined in compliance with rabies area requirements.

Voted for preparation of an ordinance enabling the council to pass by resolution under the existing law the new requirements for standardizing materials in construction of curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

Council Dumps Bed Tax In Three To Two Vote

other Peninsula communities have abandoned the idea it would become discriminatory in Carmel against the motel owners. "Besides," he said, "we have no crying need for the funds."

Mayor Putnam said, "I worked hard for 10 months toward making the tax area-wide. I think it will be state-wide in the not-too-distant future, but I feel now we must maintain a climate healthful for our own business community."

Both Putnam and Whittlesey had been proponents of the tax measure in its earlier stages.

The council heard several pieces of correspondence and several comments from the floor before voting.

Robert Little, representing the Carmel-by-the-Sea Motel Association, spoke against the tax and two resolutions taking a stand against the action and passed by the association were read by City Clerk Larry Rose, along with other memos and a telegram, all siding against the measure. Godwin added his support to the same stand, but Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, and his organization's strong stand for the tax had not changed and urged re-reading of correspondence from the committee to the council outlining its view. The letter was read.

Though the measure went down in defeat, all councilmen joined in praising City Attorney Morse's work in preparing a "model ordinance." Morse agreed it might be true since "there are parts of it I don't even understand myself."

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

It is a pleasure to report that many of the local singers and players are performing publicly at this time. Weekly Sunday afternoon concerts at the Forest Theater with ballet, vocalists and instrumentalists, etc., are open free to the public. Yesterday at the Carmel Foundation, three local artists gave an hour of classics and songs of the Romantic Era, presented by Blanche Tolmie with Mary Lindsay-Oliver at the piano. Beatrice Testa, high soprano, Ora Fallis, mezzo, and Cecil Lausten, tenor, thoroughly pleased the audience. Lausten has a voice more like Caruso's than any this writer has heard. He has sung roles with the San Francisco Opera Company and solos with the S. F. Symphony Orchestra under Monteux, both he and Testa have had considerable operatic and concert experience, and Fallis showed development since she sang there last. Unfortunately the nine-year-old pianist, Nancy Caravan, was prevented from taking part as previously announced because of a slight operation. She will be heard later on.

A Gala Musical has just been announced for August 27 on the grounds of the home of Mrs. Henry Potter Russell in Carmel Valley with more local musicians to benefit St. Dunstan's Church Building Fund. Verna Osborn, dramatic soprano, Mary Rosalie Haslett, harpist, Ralph Linsley, pianist and the Harmony Hill Quartet led by H. M. M. Nicholas with George Beck, Irmeli Rawson, and Helen Stross. The enthusiasm of Father Nicholas for fine music and his excellent playing as well as the other well known soloists should draw an appreciative attendance of concert-goers. If the proverbial prophet hath no honor in his own country, it is up to the public to create it! Major Symphony Orchestra Associations throughout the music world today are realizing the value of the recognition of their local composers, conductors and artists.

The National Symphony League is this week holding its Institute for conductors, composers and players at Orkney Springs, Virginia, under the artistic direction of Richard Lert. Among the members of the 100 piece orchestra are Chilean musicians and Celia Suegang, cellist, from the Philippines, who all played in the recent Asilomar Institute.

Little Time Left To Enter Photographs, Flowers In Co. Fair

The Monterey County Fair will open its gates, August 23 and deadline time for entry blanks is here.

One of the biggest flower shows in California is offered at the Fair and entry blanks for individual and group displays close August 12. There is a number of divisions, such as potted plants, miniature arrangements, and table decorations.

August 13, photography entry blanks are due at the Fairgrounds. The black and white exhibit has grown every year and more entries are expected at the 1961 Fair where photographers may enter all types of classes.

The final date for turning in blanks for the livestock division is August 14 for junior and senior entrants.

Blanks and premium books are still available at the Fair Office, P. O. Box 1151, Monterey, telephone FRontier 2-5863, but after August 14, agriculture is the only department that may be entered.

Symphony Announces Contest For Local Soloists, Composers

A Regional Music Competition for soloists, composers and conductors has been announced by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra through its musical director and resident conductor, Ronald Ondrejka.

The competition is the first of its kind to be sponsored by the symphony. The winning musician, or composition, will receive a cash award and will be featured in the orchestra's Spring program of the 1961-62 season.

Auditions for soloists are scheduled for September 11 on the Monterey Peninsula. The competition is open to both vocalists and instrumentalists of the Monterey County area. Soloists will be expected to audition with orchestral accompaniment and should be prepared with selections from standard repertoire.

Composers or conductors wishing to enter the competition are asked to communicate directly with Conductor Ondrejka, care of General Delivery, Carmel, prior to September 11. Scores submitted will be examined by the orchestra's music committee. Conductors, after a personal interview, will be auditioned with the orchestra.

Further information concerning the Regional Competition may be obtained by writing the Monterey County Symphony, Box 3851, Carmel. Those wishing to enter the competition should submit a brief resume of their experience to the symphony's music committee, care of the same address. Entrants will be informed of the time and place of auditions.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Mankind's need for a spiritually meaningful set of values will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson - Sermon on "Soul" is the Golden Text from Psalm 62: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him. He only is my rock and my salvation."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (p. 265).

A citation to be read from the Bible (Matt. 16) states: "For what is a man profited, if he gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

Eddie Layton Gives Free Organ Concert Saturday In Salinas

The public is invited, free of charge, to a program of organ music to be presented Saturday evening, 8:00 o'clock, by Eddie Layton at the Masonic Hall, 48 San Joaquin street, Salinas. Tickets may be obtained locally at the Graham Music Company.

Eddie Layton is a famous performer on the Hammond organ. He began his musical career at the age of six as a pianist, turned his talents to organ playing when he was 13, and started studying under Jesse Crawford in Philadelphia, his native city. His interest in the Hammond organ stems from the fact that with this instrument he can create two million sounds and tones. He has made a profession of specializing in these harmonics.

Eddie Layton has played solo and background music on all television and radio networks. He is the leading organ recording artist and his records are topsellers both nationally and internationally. He also composes, arranges and orchestrates. The theme song of the Brussels World's Fair, Bright Lights of Brussels, was written and recorded by Eddie Layton.

He has just returned from a European tour and is now playing five concerts a week on a West Coast tour. He has his own coast-to-coast radio network show, originating in New York City, on the air nine months of the year.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

The United States and Cuba, Business and Diplomacy, 1917-1960, is the complete title of a book by Robert Smith, which was done after long research and with financial aid from the University of Wisconsin. Sixty-seven of its 256 pages are taken up by notes and additional informational material to corroborate the facts of the text. This book is for the reader who wants to know what really went on behind the scenes in our long relations with Cuba.

Called the "gamecock" by his men, General Thomas Sumter was one of the very great military leaders of our Revolutionary War. After the war, honors were heaped upon him, and he lived to the age of 98, vigorous and unyielding to the end. After his death, the fort was built and named in his honor which later figured in the opening of the Civil War. Robert Bass has done a biography of General Sumter which he has entitled Gamecock.

Show business in poetry, that is Elergy in Manhattan by George Jessel. Through the medium of blank verse, 56 old-time greats of theatre speak to you and tell you of their joys and sorrows, as they told of them to Jessel in the years gone by.

Callas, Portrait of a Prima Donna, is by George Jellinek, and is copiously illustrated with photographs. It is the fascinating life story of the stormy singer. The author is an authority on opera and he includes in his book seasoned comments on the voice and career of Maria Callas.

Researchers tell us that the average child from the age of three to 16 spends as much time before a television screen as he does in school during any given year. Wilbur Schramm is Director of Communications Research at Stanford University. He has been engaged in research, the purpose of which is to find out just what results from all this watching, and whether these results are good or bad. The findings are incorporated in the book, the title of which is Television in the Lives of Our Children. If you have growing children, this book is for you. There must be zillions of parents in this world who are delighted that their children are grown beyond the stage of worry about the effects of watching television.

There are ten new novels, and a second copy of Gunther's Inside Europe Today to take care of an ever lengthening list.

Need Sewers For P-TA Carnival

Mrs. John Zellhoefer, chairman of the P-TA sewing committee for the annual High School P-TA-Girls' League Scholarship Carnival, asks persons willing to sew, glue or cut fabrics and other decorative materials to join the group preparing items for sale at the carnival which will be held on October 7 at Carmel High School.

The P-TA booth at the carnival each year sells a variety of items made by the sewing committee members including aprons, pennants, hats, Christmas ornaments and other attractive articles suitable for gifts.

Mrs. Zellhoefer announces the committee will meet tomorrow afternoon, 1:00-4:00 o'clock, in the sewing room at the High School to decide what projects will be undertaken this year.

All money raised at the carnival is used to provide college scholarships for graduating seniors. In June, nine members of the Class of 1961 were awarded Girls' League-P-TA scholarships, of an average value of $300 each, from last fall's carnival proceeds.

Victor Harber Married

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Harber are living in San Francisco following a honeymoon trip during which they visited Tassajara in Carmel Valley, Hearst Castle at San Simeon and Carmel on their way up the coast. They were married on July 29.

Mrs. Harber is the former Susan Jo Kincaid of San Marino. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Floyd Harber of Carmel and the late Mr. Harber. He is a Carmel High School graduate and continued his education at California Polytechnic College. At present he is an accountant in San Francisco.

His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Joseph Kincaid of San Marino. She attended Pasadena City College and San Francisco State College.

Dr. K. F. Gray officiated at their marriage in the Church of the Wayfarer and John Farr sang O Perfect Love as guests assembled and The Lord's Prayer during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina-length princess style white taffeta gown with long sleeves and a boat neckline. Her shoulder veil fell from a pearl crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of white stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Arthur Harber, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and the other attendants were Mrs. Richard Truitt of Alhambra and Sandy Johnson of Arcadia. They were dressed alike in aqua silk dresses with matching shoes and headbands. The matron of honor's nosegay had white carnations mingled with pink roses and those of the other attendants pink carnations with white roses.

Sally Kincaid, the bride's eight-year-old sister, was the flower girl.

The best man was Arthur Harber, the bridegroom's brother. Ushers were another brother, David Harber, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Jerry Townley, and the bride's brothers, Andy and Craig Kincaid.

The reception following the wedding was held at the Carmel Woman's Club.

While she was in Southern California, Mrs. Brey took her older grandson to Disneyland and Marineland. She also enjoyed roaming about the Huntington Museum.

Melvilles Flew To Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. John Melville and their sons, Peter and Christopher, are home after a ten-day holiday in Hawaii. They spent a week in Honolulu, the rest of the time on the Kona Coast, and particularly enjoyed ocean swimming. They traveled to and from the Islands by jet flight, an exciting experience for the boys.

Visitors From Menlo Park

Last weekend three young couples who have been friends for the past two years came to Carmel for a farewell celebration before four of the group leave Menlo Park to live elsewhere. They were Dr. and Mrs. Tom Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Jim Monson and Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis.

The Scotts are going to New Jersey for Dr. Scott to continue work in plant physiology at Princeton University. The Monsons will make their home in Southern California as Dr. Monson is joining the faculty of Harvey Mudd College, one of the Associated Colleges in Claremont. Both Dr. Scott and Dr. Monson recently were awarded Ph.D. degrees from Stanford University.

Mr. and Mrs. Baylis entertained their departing friends at a cocktail party prior to the farewell dinner Saturday evening.

Doyle And Bob End Summer Idyl

The return of Doyle Clayton and Bob Little to Carmel on Friday was the end of a month's camping, fishing and hunting idyl for the two youths who graduated from Carmel High School in June.

They left by car on July 5 to camp in Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, Washington, Oregon and California. Every night was spent in sleeping bags.

They fished for trout in "millions of streams," according to Doyle. The larger rivers were the Madison in Montana, the Snake and Green in Wyoming. They also fished in Puget Sound for salmon. Their hunting was confined to sage hens and jack rabbits in Wyoming as it was closed season for other game. They saw an abundance everywhere, however, and captured some of it on the 500 feet of colored movies they brought home with them. Doyle, a rock hound, added jade, agate and petrified wood to his collection of rocks for making jewelry. They visited Yellowstone, Grand Tetons and Glacier National Parks.

In Salt Lake City, Doyle and Bob left extra gear behind to go on a 10-day pack trip with Doyle's uncle, Hyde Clayton, to remote areas of Wyoming. They explored private property not accessible to the public, and three-pound trout were common in the streams.

Also on the trip Doyle visited other uncles in Seattle, Eureka and Fortuna and his grandmother, Mrs. Lynn H. Clayton, in Salt Lake City.

Doyle worked summers in the Carmel recreation program through high school to save for the trip which he and Bob dreamed about and planned. The boys split expenses on their holiday and Doyle recorded all of his in a log. When he got home he added up his costs and found the total price of the idyllic experience, to him, was $115.44. Thirty dollars of this amount was the cost of fishing licenses which varied from $3.50 to $12.00, according to the locality.

This fall Doyle will enter Fresno State College and Bob will enroll at Chico State College.

His father, an officer with the California Highway Patrol, is on vacation at present. "Being chief cook and bottle washer," he says. Chitwood Quits Council In Row Over Youth Center be used, he said, to cover salaries of paid employes at the Center.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey seconded Chitwood's motion.

"The problem of the Youth Center has been discussed again and again," Norberg said. "Using the City of Carmel as a kind of sieve through which school money can be obtained for a private agency is nothing to be proud of. The late Bert Lindsley (former school district counsel) found that this was indeed illegal so we created the recreation commission —on which we the city and they the school board are represented. But even the Center's professional director is not accredited to suit the school recreation code for operations of this kind. Nor is the Center a city activity."

Councilman Francis Whitaker said he would be reluctant to take action on a matter on which the Recreation Commission had given no recommendation, and Whittlesey agreed that "any action we take should be on the basis of knowing what we are acting on." He added that he personally felt, however, that the Center was doing an excellent job.

City Attorney John Morse said the council had no obligation to act on the Center's budget, which was submitted along with the photostat letter for information purposes only. He said the money which may be received by the city for payment to the Center need not appear in the city budget at all until it is received.

City Clerk Lawrence Rose stepped into the fray to urge the council not to act on the matter without being well informed. And James Buffington, Recreation Commission chairman and a former councilman, said he had helped prepare the budget but had voted against submitting it to the council without recommendation.

Rose said he felt personally that "the city has been put in an invidious position" in having neither powers of control or allocation of the funds which would pass through its hands and Norberg said the council's situation was questionable morally if not legally.

Whittlesey, who had previously seconded Chitwood's motion to support the request, then moved to table the motion and further moved that the request as received be turned over to school trustees without comment. Chitwood and Norberg voted no on that, but for different reasons, and Whittlesey, Whitaker and Putnam yes.

It was then Chitwood sprang to his feet and said, "I have stated my case and it's been disregarded by the council. I herewith present my resignation to the council, which I have served 11 years and having finished my term with the city I wish you all a resounding goodnight."

Whittlesey said he was "very upset" that Chitwood had construed the council action as a reflection on the Center and proposed the resolution asking Chitwood to reconsider "in light of the fact that the action was in no way critical of Chitwood's services or of the Carmel Youth Center." It was seconded by Whitaker and concurred in by all councilmen but Norberg, who voted no "because of the last phrase."

BREAK-IN AT HIGHLANDS

Sometime between 6:00 o'clock last night and 8:00 o'clock this morning, a window on the north side of the Carmel Highlands gas station on Highway One was smashed, and approximately $15.00 in silver and keys to the premises were removed from an unlocked cash register.

Paul E. Clemons, who operates the Standard station, discovered glass on the floor when he unlocked the building this morning. He reported the break-in and losses to the Sheriff's office and today had all locks on the station changed by a locksmith.
